The day that I found out that I could come to Auburn was one of the best days of my life.

Young Do Kim

At my previous school it was nothing but discipline. I had no choices. At Auburn I can share my opinions freely. One thing I was surprised at is how kind people are. Before I came here I thought Christian education was just the same as other education systems. Now that I've been here awhile, I realized that Christian education is the better option for a teenager. It's worth it.

Ashley Westlake

I arrived at Auburn from public school and the difference was incredible. I became interested in God while talking to teachers and students here, and I ended up being baptized. My relationship with God has really grown, and my life is 100% better!

Garrett McLarty

The spirituality here is exciting. I've gotten involved in campus ministries and organizing student Bible studies. I love mission work, too, and I've been able to help build churches in the Philippines.

every student has a story.

Lindsay Richards

When I joined the student body at Auburn Adventist Academy I felt ready to receive a new understanding of God and my personal walk with Him. So far I have learned that life becomes a lot more complicated as you get older and I can honestly say that I feel the need for God's guidance more and more everyday.

Hailey Gergich-Dixon

Coming to Auburn totally changed the direction of my life. I have had an incredible spiritual experience here.

spiritual growth.

With God's blessing, Auburn Adventist Academy has grown and flourished since 1919. A relationship with God has always been at the center of everything we do.

We encourage students to develop their personal spirituality in a variety of ways, from daily devotions to discussions in Bible classes, to dormitory worships and student-led church services. Because we believe true religion actively engages others, we provide opportunities for students to participate in meaningful community service projects and life-changing mission trips.

But let's face it—a relationship with God isn't limited to what we think of as "religious activities." Students encounter the Divine as they sing in choir, as they help other students with their studies, or even as they walk across campus with friends.

Shane Serns

There's so much to do here. I'm in gymnastics, basketball, soccer and choir—in addition to studying and working. I wouldn't have it any other way.

academic excellence.

Auburn offers electives that many other schools don't. We have an airstrip and airplane so you can become a licensed pilot. We have an indoor swimming pool for lifeguarding and scuba classes. We offer field trips to a noted medical center where you can scrub in and watch actual surgeries. We help you raise funds for travel so you can join friends and classmates on educational and music tours that take you around the U.S., Canada, and Europe.

Auburn students take their studies seriously, and excel. On ACT and SAT scores, Auburn students consistently score above the national average.

If you'd like to get a head start on college, take our college-level courses. When you graduate from Auburn, you could have 11 college credits under your belt.

Our faculty are well-educated and experienced; in fact, three-quarters of them have post-graduate degrees. With a student-teacher ration of 12 to 1, you're guaranteed personal attention from caring teachers who go the extra mile to help you learn.

a great place to live ...

Auburn's unique location, south of Seattle in the forested foothills of Mt. Rainier, provides an incredible amount of opportunities for activity. There's hiking, skiing on Snoqualmie Pass, scuba diving in Puget Sound, shopping at Pike Place Market, attending the Seattle Symphony, and taking trips to the beach.

... with lots of things to do.

In the nearby city of Auburn, Washington, students can find places to shop, eat, and enjoy other activities such as cooling off at a waterslide park or in-line skating at a nearby rink. Auburn provides opportunities for community service as well.

Beyond Auburn, there's the incredible Pacific Northwest to explore. School trips to the Washington coast are educational and fun. Sunset Lake Camp in nearby Wilkeson, Washington, is a retreat for activities and worship amidst natural beauty. Mt. Rainier's Crystal Mountain Ski Area welcomes Auburn students every weekend during ski season.

The city of Seattle offers history and culture. Students enjoy the bustle of Pike Place Market in the shadow of the Space Needle. They have the opportunity to attend performances of the Seattle Symphony or tour successful corporations based in the Emerald City, such as Boeing, Microsoft, and amazon.com.

a surprisingly affordable choice.

With all that Auburn offers, you would expect it to cost a lot more. But not only is our tuition less than many similar private schools, we offer numerous ways to make Auburn even more affordable.

Through our specialized work program, students take jobs on or off campus that help finance their education.

In addition, there are state, federal, and organization scholarships you can apply for. For example, students can receive up to $4000 from the Commonwealth Foundation, an organization that supports secondary education. The scholarship is based on financial need, work effort, and community outreach involvement.

Auburn also provides special scholarships for deserving students. The Alumni Scholarship is given to students chosen by the alumni who meet certain criteria. We also have Student Aid Scholarships for those with a special need. And you can qualify for a work-match scholarship. If you work a certain number of hours, we'll match a portion of the money you earn.

There are many ways to finance your education at Auburn. Ask us and we'll help you explore all your options.
